Work experience

Lawyer Cui Manhua has been deeply involved in the legal profession for nearly 30 years, with a profound legal professional background and rich legal work experience. We have successively provided legal services to national ministries and commissions, multiple multinational companies, state-owned commercial banks, state-owned insurance companies, and domestic enterprises. Based on the legitimate commercial interests and legal rights of the client, we have provided them with overall legal and compliant solutions. We have provided effective and comprehensive legal advice and services for litigation related disputes from the response, during litigation, and after litigation stages, to resolve legal disputes.

Lawyer Cui Manhua has special expertise in civil and commercial litigation and arbitration, handling over 100 major, difficult, and complex civil and commercial cases and winning the lawsuit. Among them, many typical cases have been referred to by courts and arbitration institutions at all levels as typical cases, and the cases are highly exploratory. For example, acting as an agent for a multinational company (China) Co., Ltd. and a film studio in Shanghai in a dispute over infringement of the right to adapt a work or infringement of the right to network dissemination of work information; Acting as an agent in a dispute over acceptance bills between a certain (group) company and a certain construction bank; Acting as an agent in the arbitration of a dispute over the coinsurance agreement between a company of China Life Property Insurance Co., Ltd. and a company of the People's Republic of China Property Insurance Co., Ltd.; Acting for an electronic technology limited company in a city and an industrial control limited company in a city in a dispute over infringement of computer software copyright. Among them, the agency client obtained a final victory in the Beijing High Court in the case of one person company personality confusion. The ruling in this case clarified the criteria for the judgment rules of one person company personality confusion, which has important guidance and reference significance for similar cases in Beijing and even other regions of the country.

Lawyer Cui Manhua has rich practical experience in the non litigation field, and has profound legal insights in professional fields such as corporate law, investment, M&A, banking, insurance, real estate, and intellectual property protection.

Lawyer Cui Manhua also provides perennial and specialized legal advisory services to a number of domestic and foreign companies, financial institutions, and leading enterprises in various industries, providing legal support for customers in daily business decision-making, daily business operations, and internal company compliance.
