Work experience

Lawyer Bai Yazheng graduated from the Department of Economic Law of China University of Political Science and Law and holds a Bachelor of Laws degree. With nearly thirty years of legal practice experience, he currently serves as a senior partner of Gaopeng Law Firm. He once worked for the State-owned Assets Management Company in Xicheng District, Beijing, and was deeply involved in the operation and management of state-owned assets as well as policy research, laying a solid foundation for handling major commercial disputes and corporate restructuring businesses for the company. He is proficient in using a dispute resolution strategy that combines litigation and non-litigation, and has outstanding achievements in the fields of complex commercial disputes, asset disposal, and cross-border legal affairs.

He focuses on corporate mergers and acquisitions, equity disputes, real estate and construction projects, intellectual property rights, and foreign-related legal affairs. He has long provided full-lifecycle legal support to large enterprises, covering litigation, arbitration, non-litigation negotiations, and compliance and risk control.

He serves as a legal advisor to well-known enterprises such as the National Storage Group, Jinhong Holding Group, Road King Group, Xicheng State-owned Assets, Zanhua Company, and Tuochi Juli Group, and is deeply involved in their strategic decision-making and risk prevention and control. In the past two years, he has continuously provided special services to Fortune 500 companies, state-owned groups, and emerging technology companies, covering fields such as real estate development, energy investment, and the digital economy. With the service concept of "professionalism, practicality, and excellence", clients evaluate him as "possessing both strategic vision and the ability to control details, and being a trustworthy partner".

"Law is not only a set of rules but also an art of solving problems." Lawyer Bai Yazheng always adheres to the principles of professional excellence and customer first, uses keen insight to resolve complex disputes, and safeguards the long-term development of enterprises with innovative thinking.

"Solving legal problems with a business mindset and creating customer value with professional capabilities" - When handling major and complex cases, he emphasizes the organic combination of legal logic and business logic, providing clients with solutions that are both legally feasible and commercially reasonable.
